   Tips for Living Your Budget}

Be flexible and realistic.

- Pay yourself first. When you're paid, move money into a separate savings account. Try to build two months of take-home pay for unexpected financial emergencies.
- Regularly review your bank and credit card statements or your online transactions. Monitoring your expenses is the first step to aligning your spending and savings goals.
- Check in periodically. A budget is an evolving guideline. Consistently spending more or less than your budget? Take a look at your trends and make changes. Budgeting with others? Make time to evaluate your expenses and align goals as a family.

Keep track of upcoming expenses.

- Note larger expenses you know are coming, like car repair or property taxes. Try to space the cost out over several paychecks.
- Spread out your bills throughout the month. You can often call or go online to request a change of bill due date.
- Don't get burned by late fees! Set reminders or automatic payments to pay your bills on time.

Be aware of spending weaknesses.

- Avoid stores or activities you know mean spending. Get an accountability buddy, or make a shopping list, and promise to stick to it.
- Is online shopping your kryptonite? Try leaving items in your cart for 24-48 hours. This "cooling off" period might help you decide if you actually need the item. Plus, sometimes you'll get a coupon code when you check out but don't submit!
- Try to limit debt with installment payments (car loans, credit card bills, etc.) to $10-20 \%$ of your monthly budget.
